A no-sew amigurumi bunny for beginners: you crochet the two ears first, join them into one round with a short chain, and keep going down into the body. There is no sewing at all, apart from closing a tiny gap between the ears and the hole at the bottom.

How the ears turn into the body

The ears are two small tubes. Round 1 of the body goes around both of them with a 3-chain bridge in between: 8 stitches around one ear, 3 along the chain, 8 around the other ear and 3 along the other side of the chain, 22 in all. From there the body grows like any amigurumi ball. It is the same trick as the two bumps of our puffy heart.

FAQ

Can the ears flop?

Work rounds 7 to 10 of each ear in a softer yarn, or make the ears 4 rounds longer and fold the tips down with a stitch.
